About Cirsova Magazine

Cirsova Magazine is a quarterly literary magazine that publishes heroic fantasy and science fiction. The magazine was founded in 2013 by editor-in-chief P.G. Holyfield and has since published over 100 issues. Cirsova is known for its high-quality fiction, poetry, and reviews, and has been praised by critics for its commitment to publishing new and exciting voices in the genre.

The magazine's name is derived from the Circosian, a fictional race of people who appear in the works of J.R.R. Tolkien. The Circosians are a nomadic people who live in the mountains of Middle-earth, and are known for their fierce warriors and their love of freedom. Holyfield chose the name Cirsova because he felt that it represented the magazine's commitment to publishing heroic fiction that celebrated the human spirit.

The Mission of Cirsova Magazine

Cirsova Magazine's mission is to publish the best heroic fantasy and science fiction stories, poems, and essays from both new and established authors. The magazine is committed to publishing fiction that is well-written, imaginative, and entertaining, and that celebrates the human spirit.

Cirsova Magazine believes that heroic fantasy and science fiction are important genres of literature that can help us to understand ourselves and the world around us. The magazine is committed to publishing fiction that explores the human condition, celebrates the power of the imagination, and inspires readers to dream big.

The Team Behind Cirsova Magazine

Cirsova Magazine is edited by P.G. Holyfield, who is also the publisher of the magazine. Holyfield is a lifelong fan of heroic fantasy and science fiction, and he has a passion for discovering new and exciting voices in the genre. He is also the author of several novels, including The Hammer and the Cross and The Sword of the Prophet.

The Cirsova team also includes associate editor S.B. Divakaruni, poetry editor John C. Hocking, and review editor J.L. Gribble. Divakaruni is a Nebula Award-winning author whose work has appeared in Strange Horizons, Asimov's Science Fiction, and The Magazine of Fantasy & Science Fiction. Hocking is a Hugo Award-winning poet whose work has appeared in The Dark, Weird Tales, and The Magazine of Fantasy & Science Fiction.
